- Entertainment costs (i.e. receptions, parties, fund-raising events, openings, etc.). Note that these costs may appear in your project budget, but may not be funded with a UCF Grant

EVALUATION CRITERIA

Applications are reviewed by an independent panel of community volunteers. Panel recommendations are submitted to the BCAC Board of Directors for final approval. The UCF Project Grants Review Panel evaluates each application with reference to the following criteria:

- Program merit, concept and appropriateness of project to the applicant/artist
- Artistic merit of the project, credentials of the artist(s) involved, as evidenced by resume(s) and support material
- Benefit of the project to a “community” as described and identified in the proposal narrative
- Organizational strength, fiscal integrity, fiscal soundness of the applicant organization and/or the proposed project
- Financial need, demonstrated by the applicant's inability to fully support the program or project with its own resources, or alternate/additional sources of support

APPLICATION/REVIEW PROCESS

PANEL REVIEW: Applications are reviewed by a panel, composed of community leaders, artists and arts professionals appointed by the BCAC Board of Directors. Applications are reviewed according to the above-noted criteria.

Panelists agree to subscribe to a Code of Ethics with specific regard to confidentiality and conflict-of-interest issues. Panelists affiliated in any way with applicant organizations are asked to excuse themselves from review of the specific application involved, and may not comment or vote upon that application.

BCAC staff members are present during panel meetings to objectively facilitate discussion and to provide information. Staff is not permitted to vote, or to volunteer opinion. Staff will research or provide information not submitted with the application only by direct request from the panel.

BOARD APPROVAL: The panel submits its funding recommendations to the arts council board of directors for final approval. All applicants are notified in writing of funding decisions. Actual payments of grants are made upon satisfactory completion of the required forms, contracts and reports.

APPEALS: Upon receipt of notification of the status of their application, an applicant may appeal a funding decision if the applicant can cite specific, legitimate examples illustrating that: 1) submitted information was not presented to the panel, 2) Council staff misrepresented information during panel review, or 3) panel procedures were improperly followed. Decisions on appeals are final. The sole function of the appeal process is to ensure that applicants have been given a full and fair consideration by the review process. An appeal request will not be accepted solely on an applicant's disagreement with the dollar amount that was recommended or approved for funding; nor is new or additional information (i.e. information not submitted with the original application) accepted for consideration. Appeals must be submitted in writing to the Executive Director of the BCAC within 10 days of the date of the notification letter. The Executive Director will submit the written claim and all panel documentation to the arts council's Executive Committee, or to a three-member appeals panel appointed from the BCAC Board of Directors.

Minutes of the panel meetings are maintained as a matter of public record. Applicants may request copies as soon as they are available after the review process has been completed. Minutes refer only to general discussions, recommendations and questions raised during panel meetings, and do not specify opinions or questions raised by individual panelists. It is strongly recommended that applicants discuss the possibility of an appeal with the Arts Council Executive Director prior to submission of the appeal.

GRANT PAYMENT, MONITORING & COMPLIANCE: The total award is paid to the grant recipient following receipt of the properly executed UCF Project Grant Contract.

Funded projects must be completed and funding must be utilized in accordance with the submitted application. If problems arise necessitating a significant change in proposed project plans, recipients are required to notify the arts council, in writing, to evaluate compliance with the terms of the grant.

Recipients are required to submit a Final Report no later than thirty days after the completion of the funded project. Failure to submit the required report will render applicants ineligible for future funding from the Broome County Arts Council for a period of one funding cycle. The terms of such reporting requirements are noted in the grant award contract.

CREDITING: Recipients are required to credit the Broome County Arts Council and the United Cultural Fund as sources of project funding. Failure to credit the Broome County Arts Council and the United Cultural Fund may jeopardize your funding. You must include a statement to this effect in press releases and correspondence with the media to alert the media as to the importance of proper credit to the council and the UCF. The following statement must appear prominently on all published materials, including the printed event program, and announcements regarding the event. This includes announcements on radio and television and in paid advertising.

“Funding is provided, in part, by a project grant from the United Cultural Fund, a program of the Broome County Arts Council.”

AUDITING: Organizations whose funded projects, programs, events, etc. include an admission fee are required to send two complementary admissions (tickets, passes, etc.) to the arts council to permit an auditor to attend the project as an audience member. During such attendance, auditors frequently obtain information that may be used in subsequent grant programs and evaluate the granted project. Please send tickets as early as possible to ensure our attendance at your funded program.
